Directions for the Do It Yourself Ring-Patch

1. Cut out the patches and the two wings along the dotted lines. Make a slit along the white dotted lines.
2. Cut the soon-to-be ring band out along the dotted lines. Trim the band to fit finger along one of the many grey lines.
3. Fold the soon-to-be ring bands along the dashed line. Bring all four pointy ends together creating a tear shape.
4. Thread the largest patch onto the four pointy ends so that the unprinted side is facing the ring band. Pull the patch all the way down till it meets the ring band.
5. Thread all of the remaining patches onto the pointy ends, pulling them down as close to the ring band and the first patch as you wish.
6. Trim the pointy ends to desired length. Put glue on the unprinted side of the two wings. Fold them in half along the dashed line- and fold them over the remaining (once pointy) ends.
7. When dry, place ring on finger.
