soon-to-be ring band

Directions for the Do it Yourself Ring- Twine

DIAGRAM A

DIAGRAM B

1. Cut out the eight pieces along the dotted lines. Slice out the two circles in the gem form.
2. Make mountain folds along the dashed lines.
3. Take the gem form and put glue on the glue tabs labelled "A." Make a cone shape by attaching the longest glue tab to the unprinted side of the only long straight edge of the gem form. Attach each tab to the underside of the smaller parallelogram next to it. This should create a shape that resembles a gem. Put this aside to dry.
4. Glue the soon-to-be ring band strips together to create one long strip. Put this aside to dry.
5. Put glue on the gem form on the glue areas labelled "B." Take the gem top form and align this on the B glue areas.
6. Take the the soon-to-be ring band strip and wind it around your four fingers to create a loop that is between 5.5 cm to 7.5 cm (2 3/16th in to 3 in) in diameter. Pinch a gentle fold in the wound strip and thread the loop into one of the circles on the side of the gem form and out the other. Do not pull the loop all the way through. See diagram A.
7. Take the pointed end of the wound strip and thread it through the loop that is sticking out of the other side of the gem form. See diagram B. Open up the pointed end to form a loop that will accomodate the intended finger. Glue down the two loose ends of the long strip.
8. When dry, place ring on finger. Adorn Yourself
